

Building on the success of the First Caucasus Mountain Forum (CMF 2016), the members of the SNC-mt Scientific Steering Group decided that the Mountain Forum should be held regularly to ensure the sustainability of scientific cooperation and exchange, and the continuation of regular dialogue supporting the science-practice interface.

The Second Caucasus Mountain Forum follows in the footsteps of CMF 2016 in serving as a crucial opportunity for constructive interaction between scientists, governmental experts, and practitioners to debate on opportunities and challenges; and to make contributions to the improved coordination of sustainable development in the Caucasus region.

One of the main goals of the Caucasus Mountain Forum 2019, organized under the title: The Caucasus Regional Research Agenda: Key to Sustainable Regional Development, held on 30 October to 1 November 2019 in Ankara, Turkey, is to formally approve the Caucasus Regional Research Agenda (C-RRA): <http://caucasus-mt.net/regional-research-agenda>. Accordingly, this year's CMF theme encompasses the subject areas covered in the C-RRA, with a focus on identifying the current state of knowledge in the Caucasus region, key challenges and opportunities, and priority gaps for scientific research and development.

The specific objectives of the Second Caucasus Mountain Forum are to:

- review and approve the Caucasus Regional Research Agenda (C-RRA);
- share scientific findings and practitioner experiences generated since CMF 2016;
- enhance the links between research, policymaking and practice in the field of sustainable mountain development;
- draw the attention of Caucasus-country practitioners to needs and priorities in research and development for a sustainable future in the Caucasus;
- showcase the latest scientifically informed activities fostering progress towards sustainability in the Caucasus mountain region; and
- promote sub-regional, regional, and international cooperation, exchange of knowledge and know-how among scientific groups working for sustainable mountain development.

As hosts and organisers, we are very pleased to welcome you to Ankara! We wish to thank the many dedicated people—scientists and academics, governmental experts and practitioners, donors, international experts, local communities, and interested members of the general public, in particular from countries of the wider Caucasus region—who have all helped to organise this event. We express particular gratitude to the Swiss Agency for Development and Cooperation, and the United Nations Environment Programme and Austrian Development Agency for their financial support.
